Need A Download Link For Fight Night Champion PC Game Free Download For PC Windows 7,8.Q: Creating Customized Stacked Bar Chart in R I have some data that I need to visualize in a stacked bar chart, but in a few ways: Some of the bars should not be shown Some bars should be under other bars I need my scales to be different for each graph This data is made of four variables: foo, bar, foo_bar, and foo_bar_bar Below I have an example of the data and the graph I have so far. I am using ggplot2 to create the graph, and since I have spent a good amount of time writing this post, I am hoping for some guidance on how I could achieve the following goals: I need to remove a few bars from the graph, specifically bars 1 and 4 I need to put bars 2 and 3 in the space under bars 1 and 4 I need to scale the axis so that bars 1 and 4 are much taller Do you have any ideas? Thanks so much in advance! Example: A: I can't exactly answer your question, but I can offer a solution to your problem. What you can do is rescale each of the y axis separately after you make it (I am doing this in ggplot): dat
