As part of the installation procedure I'm asked to install the binary header files so I enter sudo apt-get install libc6-dev-i386, but there are no headers to download. I've checked the contents of the package contents and there are no binary header files there. Is this the right place to look? And can someone explain what binary headers are for. I would just like to get this install working so that I can install more software. A: Thanks to the comment from @gravity the I went back and installed a few more packages: gcc-6-dev libasan0 libasan4 libatomic1 libc6-dev libc6-i386 libcairo-dev libcairo2 libcap-ng0 libcilkrts5 libcmock-dev libcilkrts5-2 libcilkrts7 libcilkrts7-2 libcmocka-dev libcmocka5 libdw-dev libdw1 libdw1-dev libelf1 libfl-dev libgc-dev libgc1 libgcc-6-dev libgcc6 libgcc6-dev libgcrypt11 libgcrypt20 libgeoip1 libgpg-error-dev libgpgme11 libgpgme11-dev libgpgme++1 libgss-dev libiberty9 libjava-io-java libjemalloc1 libjemalloc1-dev libjs-jquery libjs-jquery-shim libjpeg-turbo8 libltnng-ust0 libltnng-ust-dev liblzo2-2 liblua5.3-0 libmail-sendmail-perl lib

The aim of this study was to investigate erythrocyte membrane lipids and antioxidant activities, in relation to blood glucose level, age and gender, in apparently healthy subjects who had increased risk of developing type 2 diabetes. The study included 31 (21 women and 10 men) apparently healthy persons with a body mass index > or = 25 kg/m2. According to WHO criteria, they were divided into two groups: those at risk of developing type 2 diabetes and a control group. The first group included 15 persons (10 women and five men) with an age-independent risk of developing type 2 diabetes, including impaired glucose tolerance and/or impaired fasting glucose. The second group included 16 persons (11 women and five men) with a body mass index Q: How can I turn off 'Undo' in Emacs running in an MSVS IDE? How can I turn off 'Undo' in Emacs running in an MSVS IDE? I am mainly doing programming in C++, and the MSVC debugger sometimes mistakenly thinks I have already undone something. I want to turn off 'Undo' at the command line, but I have not found an Emacs option to do this. Thank you. A: M-x enable-
